OUR BAND

An Appreciation by Colwell

One stormy day in the early part of 1919, the war and curling being over, the fertile brain of one of our esteemed fellow-citizens, F. L. Simington, conceived the idea of starting a band in Vulcan. He dropped in to the Jones' drug store, and enquired of the genial proprietor, what he thought of the proposition. "All right," said Jones. "Let's get up and see Harry Jacques," and on the way they discussed the matter of raising funds. Characteristic of the western spirit, before they had arrived at the tinner establishment, they had decided to put on a minstrel show to start the thing again. Jones said to Jacques: "Harry, would you black your face for a minstrel show to start a band?" When the ever witty Harry replied "Jonsie, old boy, I would black my self all over and leave it on, if it would help to start a band." And the history and melody of that minstrel show which was played twice here to crowded houses, is written in the heart of the citizens of this town, and will ever remain a pleasant memory.

That was the start of an organization that today boasts, and justly so, of one of the best bands of the province. The seed fell on fertile ground. Quickly, likely musicians were enlisted and classified, having regard to their respective talents with the several instruments, and the band, consisting of business men, bankers, farmers, etc., each one filled with enthusiasm, love and loyalty, began arduous, uphill labors to extract melody from a variety of instruments, with which most of them were entire strangers a month previous.

They have practiced incessantly for two years, whether the weather has been fair or foul, some of them driving as far as 12 miles over rough roads in order to attend practice. Until from a few puny, weird, squeaky noises and a mad jumble of discords, they are able to put on a first class concert, or step out on the street, and play a march with the swing of veterans, making the chests of the people swell with pride, as they see the Band come marching down the street to the tune of a lively lilt that makes the blood tingle to the finger tips of the most frosty-hearted, while the kids crowd the sidewalk and dance and yell with joy, and the disappointed financier forgets his erstwhile pain.

Outside of the organization of the band, and the arduous and incessant work of the members put in, in practice, not to mention the good, hard cash that they have dug up from their own pockets for instruments, a great deal of credit is due to a great leader and musician, Mr. A. J. Ober. This versatile gentleman, who seems as much at home playing a saxophone as the drum or coronet, it a born teacher and leader of a band. And how Vulcan has been so fortunate as to secure, as well as retain his services, is a conundrum, were it not for the fact that he likes the town and the people here so well, that no other inducement could be thrown out to make him leave.

We are proud to say also that the citizens of the town and district have stood solidly behind the band by giving their financial support, whenever asked to do so. This has been mostly in the form of attending in droves any concert, show or entertainment the band has ever put on, which to say the least have always been well worth the admission asked.

Today the band is one its feet. It is a going concern. They have earned their spurs. New blood is continually being sought to fill the ranks and keep it up, to strength. They have demonstrated their talent, which has been brought up to the present status by tireless and persistent practice, so well, that their services are being sought after from outside points for celebrations, fairs and other events. They deserve our unqualified support, and every member of the community is proud of their achievements.

It costs money to finance an institution such as this. In fact nearly a thousand dollars a year, exclusive of buying instruments. But still they are not at present in any financial distress, which speaks well indeed for the executive ability and sagacity of its officers. They have surmounted extremely difficult situations, confident that every man, woman and child of the community is solidly behind them.

VULCAN VISITS

Citizens' Band and Vulcan Citizens Spend Day Here.

The citizens' band and many Vulcan citizens were visitors to High River on Sunday, and they were indeed very welcome guests. Carload after carload arrived here just before noon, and our neighbors from the south town, after a drive of forty miles, made pleasant by good roads, splendid weather, and a survey of the excellent crops between here and there, at once repaired to our park, the objective of their trip.

The park is now at its prettiest, and our visitors enjoyed to the fullest the shade and comforts which the beautiful trees and green foliage afford on a hot day. Most of them brought baskets, and the facilities of the park made dining a real feature of a pleasant outing.

The several hours of the afternoon were spent in devious ways, according to the several desires of our guests, and while most of them found perfect satisfaction in the park, some took in the town generally, others made a round or two on the golf course, and there were a few who visited the air station and other places of interest.

The visit to High River did not have anything of selfishness in it, for if the Vulcanites did realize a real pleasure the citizens of High River were more than repaid through the medium of the Vulcan brass band, the members of which rendered a program of music which was to us a real and exceptional treat. And was not the whole pleasant event to the credit of the band, the generosity of which organization prompted them to voluntarily offer such an opportunity for our pleasure.

This fine neighborly spirit is appreciated to the full here, and such events as that of this visit will no doubt establish an inter-town relationship that will surely be a pleasure and profit to both. You will have our welcome whenever you might desire to come again.—High River Times.

BASEBALL

Lomond vs. Vulcan and Red Cross vs. Vulcan.

The Lomond vs. Vulcan game which was played at Lomond on Tuesday of last week was certainly an air-tight game right until the seventh inning, the score being then 4-3 in favor of Vulcan. During the last inning with Lomond at the bat, a long foul was batted out to the right field and the umpire had the nerve to call it fair. All the fans present, including Lomond fans declared it a very raw decision, but, however, the local boys took it in a good sportsmanship manner. This raw decision of the umpire gave Lomond the game, the score ending in 5-4 in favor of Lomond.

The Vulcan line-up was as follows: J. L. Ishom, c.; C. C. Smith, p.; F. Clark, 1st base; Wm. Recor, 2nd base; Jack McKenzie, 3rd base; Vaughn, s.s.; E. Speton, F. Wegman and Bill Herman, fielders.

On Wednesday the local boys once more journeyed away from home, this time to Red Cross, where they played a splendid game, but owing to a hard and rough diamond the score was rather high, nevertheless the game was much better than the score would indicate. Quite a number of local fans journeyed with the boys and that is the kind of support that is needed. In this game our boys came home victorious with a score of 14-15.

After the game a most delicious supper was served by the Red Cross ladies which was much appreciated by the boys.

Vulcan will play a return game with Lomond one day during the Chautauqua week.

LOCALS

A divine service will be held in the Chautauqua tent this Sunday evening, commencing at 8 p.m. The massed choirs of the Union Church, augmented by other singers will take part. Favorite hymns will be sung and short addresses given. The Anglican and Union Churches are giving up their evening services in order to take part in this united service. Note the date and the place, also the time, and be sure to be there.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENING DAY—SATURDAY, JUNE 18TH

A few more days and the World's famous Chautauqua will be with us. The opening feature this year will be a concert both afternoon and evening by the famous "Bell Ringers." Every where they go they are a sensation. They have a complete set of genuine Swiss bells and certainly know how to handle them. They will ring and sing to your heart's content, this talented quartet, a two-in-one company, in that they sing, playing their own accompaniments on the bells. Can you imagine anything more beautiful?

Properly made bells are the truest toned of any musical instruments. They have been in use for centuries. We read about them in the Bible times and the story tells us that the Greeks and Romans early learned the art of casting bells. The Swiss have perhaps become the master bell makers and users. This male quartet will not only ring the bells, but will ring all the harmony from the bells that an audience can desire.

Come out on the first day and get in tune and ring true all the rest of Chautauqua and you will spend one of the happiest weeks in your lives.

In the evening, only, Agnes Laut, Publicist, will give a lecture, the subject being "Canada at the Cross Roads." One interesting feature of her lecture will be the open forum discussion of the facts presented. Miss Laut has stated that though much of her subject matter may be controversial though non-partisan from the political standpoint, she did not want it thought that any unfair positions would be taken.

Miss Laut is the author of many books of which the best known are "The Lords of the North," and "The Canadian Commonwealth."

CALGARY EXHIBITION

In the program which will be presented at the 1921 Calgary Exhibition, to be held June 30 to July 8, the management considers it has the highest class and most entertaining features that have ever been secured for the Calgary Exhibition.

An attraction which will undoubtedly be the most popular for many years is the massed Festival Choir of 200 voices, composed of the five Calgary choirs which competed in the recent Alberta Musical Festival. The choral work at this Festival was so good that one of the adjudicators, Dr. W. H. Hall, professor of choral singing at Columbia University, New York, said "The choral work at this Festival has reached the highest mark I have ever heard in choral work on this continent."

A forty-five minute concert will be given each evening by the massed choir, accompanied by a thirty piece orchestra, which will include solos and other special numbers in addition to the choral numbers.

Another feature which will delight all Exhibition patrons, young and old, will be the fireworks. A remarkable display of aerial fireworks will be given and in addition a reproduction of the Naval Battle at Dover. This will be given each evening following the regular platform program, which in itself would constitute a wonderful evening's entertainment.

The live stock and industrial exhibits this year promise to be exceptionally good, and the prospects are particularly bright for the best all round Exhibition that has ever been held in Calgary.

MAGNA CHARTA DAY

"The labor of uniting into still closer amity and understanding the English-speaking peoples, is of significance of good to all Americans and to all nations and races of the world. These duties will find their closest recognition in a united, unshakable friendship and oneness of purpose, not for the exclusion from brotherhood of others, but for a better brotherhood flowing toward others."—President Harding.

Based upon a sentiment such as expressed in the above paragraph, a movement has been started to establish the annual commemoration by the seven English-speaking nations of the signing of the Magna Charta, the great foundations of all our liberties.

Anglo-American unity is the greatest single Peace Factor in the world today, and the finest service the people of the two nations can render the world at large at this hour, is to make themselves better understood by each other.

The proposition for the commemorations in the United States, and the appeal should be the greater to all loyalists and peace-loving citizens of Canada and the other dominions of the Empire, who are no doubt energized by the unrest of the world and the intrigues of rebellious sections of the people here and there.

It is not proposed to make the day—Wednesday, June 15—a holiday, but the press is urged at that period each year to give space for reference to what the day stands for and the benefits which an annual commemoration will bring into the lives of the people of the seven nations. The Times gives freely its support to the plan.

Give the census man a welcome and render him ready assistance. He is on a national duty.

The Calgary Herald has editorially referred to the fact that the size of berry boxes has been defined by a law covering the sale of fruit in boxes, and says that the short boxes are not allowed this year. This again reminds us of the advantages of standardizing boxes and things of the kind so that one might know that when he purchases a box of berries he has a box of berries.

When the German indemnity is paid to France, the lumber industry in Canada will be greatly benefitted, according to the Hon. Philippe Paradis, member of the Quebec Legislative Council, who has just returned from an extensive tour of France. He states that railways, bridges, and roads in the devastated areas have been repaired, but there was a great lack of houses owing to the financial plight of France.

The reported discovery of gold in the district of The Pas, Man., has resulted in a rush to the territory. Dan Austin, a prospector, describing the discovery, said he stood on the shore of Elbow Lake and saw the ore body dipping into it, showing free gold standing out everywhere. Going over the exposed portion of the vein, he claims to have seen gold in every section.

"The war would have been of no use if it had not brought together in stronger ties the two English-speaking nations."—Admiral Sims.

The Ulster parliament in Ireland is now an established institution, having been formally constituted on Tuesday. The progress of this parliament will perhaps be the most watched of any that has ever existed.

The conference at London, Ontario, while condemning dancing in public schools and at summer resorts and elsewhere, very properly advised the ministers to take leadership in providing pleasure and recreation for the young people.

The city of Calgary pays a higher rate of wages to its street railway employees than any other street railway system in Canada, and Calgary has more street railway mileage per 1000 population than any other city in the Dominion, save Vancouver.

CANADA'S REPRESENTATIVE

Good men, the clearest and most conscientious, are often discounted and sometimes destroyed by the persistent and untrue attacks of political opponents. This may be more or less so in the case of Premier Meighen, who leaves this week to attend the London Conference. Some people have said that he goes to London as the representative of a "hopeless minority in Canada." We of course, have no brief for Premier Meighen, but the circumstance gives us opportunity to praise the fairness of W. A. Buchanan, a member in the house of commons in opposition to the party which Mr. Meighen leads, and the editor of the Lethbridge Herald, which paper gives support to the opposition. The Herald in a recent issue, in discussing this question, said:

"The Prime Minister goes to the Conference not as the representative of any political party but as the representative of the nation. His is not a political but a national mission. To oration of this great event comes from lay it down that in the circumstances he represents a 'hopeless minority' as co-related to the big Empire questions that are to come up at the Conference would be a poor compliment to the nationhood of Canada and the part it has in the affairs of the Empire."

The several recent conferences of church governments have been discussing the question of women's dress. One minister described the attire as being too far from the earth at one end and too far from the heavens at the other. There is one thing that can be said, and that is that the ministers are somewhat slow in giving consideration to this matter, for have not the ladies in this garb been receiving the attention of the laymen for some time?

George Garfield, who murdered Ben Johnston at Woodstock, Ont., was hanged on June 2. He walked to the scaffold smoking a cigarette. This fact should popularize the habit among the women smokers.

Auto thieves can now be imprisoned for one year, without the option of a fine. Sky-larking joy-riders will now think twice before running off with somebody else's car for an evening's outing.

It is estimated that one thousand silos will be built in the three prairie provinces of Canada during this year. It is also reported that one firm in the States, which has made a specialty of erecting silos, have secured orders for two hundred of these structures to be erected in Manitoba alone. Saskatchewan farmers will build several this season, while in the south-west of Alberta, where fifty silos were erected last year, another fifty will be built this summer.

Race-track betting is just now the subject of much discussion in Ontario, and the Owen Sound Sun delivers itself as follows on the matter: Race track gambling is no more an aid to horse-breeding than cock-fighting is to the raising of good laying poultry. It is a scandal and a national shame.

The Presbyterians have voted strongly in favor of church union, the Methodist want it, now let's have it. There are innumerable advantages to the proposition.

The Ottawa Journal says that Canada may get some small share of the first German payment, but in the statement very strong emphasis is given to the "may."

Rumor is persistent that there is soon to be a provincial general election in Alberta, but Premier Stewart is just as persistent in his statement that there has as yet been no definite action taken in the matter by the government. In many ridings the political parties are becoming very active. Never a move has so far been made in High River constituency.

NOT ON SUNDAY

The Mormon temple at Cardston, which is one of the wonders of the west, has for some time been the object of travellers and visitors. Sunday was a busy day at the temple, and it has been deemed wise to curtail Sunday inspection of the famous building. While it was not desired that the excursions to the temple be stopped in the least, and that everyone is entirely welcome to see the temple, and that the ushers and guides were perfectly willing to accommodate any and all who desire to go through the structure before its dedication, yet the Sunday visiting is getting to be too much of a burden on the janitors and guides, so that the tourists and all others who visit Cardston should make it a point to do so on a week day in order not to be disappointed.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION GOOD

It's quite the common thing now to hear in this town, visitors praise the excellent hotel service they can get here; one traveller recently remarked to us that in his varied travels throughout the west he had never yet struck a small town with such good hotel service. Commercial men, doing this section of country, have got into the way of trying to "make this town" for the night. They find that the good accommodation they get here at the day's end is well worth making an effort for.

PASSING OF THE DIPPER

The Sarnia Observer observes that it has been gravely announced that the manufacture of tin dippers is no longer a profitable business and the ultimate extinction of this once indispensable kitchen utensil is more than probable. Like other friends of unregenerate youth—such as the cork-screw—it is soon to lose its time-honored place in the domestic economy. Future generations may have to search for a specimen behind a glass case in the Ontario Museum. Time works wondrous changes. The old oaken bucket with its moss covered lip—laden with germs—has been immortalized by Samuel Woodworth. Fame awaits the bard who pens an ode in honor of the old tin dipper.

CLEAN UP SUGGESTIONS

The responsibility for the keeping of one's premises in a sanitary condition, that is, clean and free from an accumulation of domestic waste, is placed upon the head of each household.

In small towns and villages where there is plenty of ground it is possible to burn up most of the refuse and bury the indestructible portion in the ground, yet where the ground is limited it is impossible to dispose of the waste in this manner, in such cases the refuse is allowed to accumulate either in barrels or boxes, sometimes in covered tins.

When the authorities fail to provide the ways and means for its regular and systematic removal, the householder has to remove it at his own cost and often at considerable inconvenience, for it is not an easy matter to find a person ready and willing to act as scavenger.

One very important point in refuse destruction is overlooked, it is the possibility of burning a certain amount in the kitchen stove, quite a percentage of the refuse thrown into the yard or lane and then carried by the wind to the different parts of the village could be burned in the furnace or stove.

It is better and easier to keep the premises clean than it is to clean up premises that are allowed to become defiled with the rubbish of any kind.

The following hints to householders I believe are so practical and good that should be followed up by each person winter or summer.

Average householders are more or less careless about the way in which the refuse is kept during the winter, and immediately the warm weather begins to appear, they awaken to the fact that they are loaded up with all kinds of rubbish, and they usually end up by complaining that the scavenger department (if any) is not giving attention to its work as it should do.

A large percentage of these complaints received are unjustified, being due either by neglect or sufferance of the occupier, etc., in not complying with the regulations of the Health Department.

During the cold weather attention should be paid to the kitchen refuse. This class of refuse usually contains more or less moisture, with the result that, when placed in a garbage can it keeps solid and has to be removed by an iron bar, must to the detriment of the can. If householders would wrap up their kitchen refuse in paper before placing it in the garbage can their receptacles would last ten times as long. The scavengers would save a lot of time, as the contents would be easily emptied and the can would always be sweet and clean.

Do not place anything in the garbage can but kitchen refuse, and always drain all the water from it before doing so.

Ashes must not be placed in these receptacles. Ashes must be kept clean, and dumped in a suitable place, for such can be made use of by the village authorities.

Burn as much paper and rags, straw, etc., as possible and so keep the Town street and lanes clean, if this is impossible, tie up in bundles, and place in a covered box near the garbage can.

Do not keep your can or any other receptacle inside the building, the scavengers are strictly forbidden to go inside for receptacles.

If there is a lane at the rear of your premises place you can near it and not just outside the kitchen door. By doing this you will save the scavengers many miles of walking in a day and you will consequently get more and better service.

PROVINCIAL AND GENERAL

The sixty head of Alberta steers, shipped by the government to the Old Country as a demonstration bunch, are well on the way. The Englishman is a "show me" chap when it comes to buying his roast of beef, and this consignment by the local department of agriculture is designed to prove to John Bull that Alberta cattle can fully satisfy his taste and demands. It is a fact that good goods get the business, and the effort of the local government to establish a demand for Alberta beef in Britain is commendable. Incidentally, the government will be assisted in their effort by the shipment of such very excellent stock as that made recently by Messrs. McMillan and Drumheller, ranchers in the High River district.

CLEAN UP AND KEEP CLEAN

Fires are criminals, and on the basis of this fact legislation has been enacted for prevention, and for the enforcement of the regulations and the conservation of the forests several resources of the government are employed, these resources including the air service which has recently been established at High River. Though immensely costly the methods are considered to be good business.

There is another feature of the fire prevention undertaking which has a more direct and close application to citizens generally, and that is the law which requires that streets, lanes, yards and all premises be kept clean of rubbish, paper and inflammable materials. This matter is under the direction of officials of the provincial government, and these officials are particularly active at this time. Besides the protection against fire which an observance of the regulations furnishes, cleaning up and keeping clean has great advantages in a sanitary way.

The order has been officially made that all shall clean up and keep clean, and has been made by the authorities who promise to prosecute all persons who fail to comply with the law in the matter. There is no argument as to the advantages of the observance of the regulations, and the penalties are coming to those who are careless and guilty of neglect.

THE COST TO FRANCE

What the war cost France in human life is beginning to appear in the new census. The final figures have not yet been made public, but enough of the departments have been canvassed to make it apparent that there are at least 3,000,000 fewer French people than there were in 1911, and the loss may prove to be almost 4,000,000. That would mean that France has been literally decimated. The loss is not wholly owing to actual deaths in the war; it is in large part caused by the shrinking birth rate that naturally followed so tremendous a mortality among the young men of the nation.

AN EFFORT TO REPRESS SIN

When amendments to the Criminal Code were under discussion in the House, the other day, Dr. Michael Clark of Red Deer, drew attention to the fact that some of the legislation which it was proposed to place upon the statutes was in reality an effort to repress sin as distinguished from crime. He pointed out that the British laws were framed for the repression of crime and that it was not the function of a government to cure sin. Paternalistic legislation would never meet the case and the clause was withdrawn. It was an amendment making it a criminal offence for an unmarried couple to register as man and wife at an hotel.

"Keep the Union Jack Flying" was the slogan of the Unionists in the recent election of members of the new Ulster parliament, and the election of forty Unionists out of a total of fifty seats is certain evidence of the loyalty of the North of Ireland to British connections. South Africa and Australia have also, through elections recently held, given a like expression of loyalty to the Motherland.

PROVINCIAL AND GENERAL

Professor Augustine Smith, of Boston, Mass., in an address delivered at Hamilton, Ontario, said that there is altogether too much jazz music in the churches of today, and added that many music publishers should be jailed. Prof. Smith, whoever he is, might be right, but this country is not either the chief producer or user of the kind of music defined.

Rev. A. C. Farrell, former pastor of Wesley Church, Calgary, and overseas chaplain, and a native of Kincardine, Ontario, now stationed at Medicine Hat, was elected president of the Alberta conference of the Methodist Church.

Wet gas, ascending like smoke from the drill hole, has been struck by the Imperial Oil Company's number two well, south of Pincher Creek, and in the vicinity of Waterton Lake. Oil men are enthusiastic over the showing made in this district.

Fifty oil drilling outfits will be in operation in Alberta by the middle of this summer, according to present indications. The Imperial Oil Company are behind about twenty of these, while other prominent British and American interests are promoting other companies. Development work will take place in practically every district from the Montana border to the Fort Norman discovery well.

Premier Stewart declares that no plans are set for holding provincial elections in Alberta this year.

AT THE LEGISLATURE

Your readers will recall that some weeks ago I gave an account of Mr. Headley's address in respect to taxes paid by big corporations in the province. At that time it was demonstrated that the larger corporations paid practically nothing in comparison to that part paid by the ordinary farmer. I shall not repeat the argument presented then, but I do advise that your readers look over this article again. On this occasion I wish to add one more series of facts in the same connection. This series has to do with the moving picture shows and theatre taxation. The people paid for admission to the moving pictures, theatres, etc., $2,670,000, boxing contests, $18,000, hockey games, $12,000, trained animal shows $54,000, professional baseball games and other shows $166,000. This makes a grand total of about $3,000,000. The province collected about $132,000 by the theatre-goers tax. Now, note right here, that the people paid liberal tax, but the big theatre companies paid practically nothing.

There are some interesting facts in respect to the Wild Land Tax in the province. At the last session of the Legislature the commission paid to municipalities for the collection of wild land taxes was increased from 2½ to 5 per cent. In the past, municipal districts collected all wild land taxes outside of such districts were collected direct by the Department of Municipal Affairs. This principle also applied in respect to assessments. Now notice that for the year 1920 the total amount collected in the province was $853,511.74, of this $567,222.64 was collected by the Department of municipal affairs. Therefore, in order to collect over $567,000.00 the government paid the municipal districts $18,361.00, and to collect its own $286,000.00, the government paid about $40,000.00. Now figure out what you think of the government's capacity in the collection business.

The total cost of administration of the wild tax for 1920 was $57,271, for 1919 $71,499, for 1918 $40,858, for 1917 $37,410, for 1916 $27,645, and for 1915 $18,506.

The U.F.A. has 5021 members in the Medicine Hat electoral district, in which there is now a bye-election campaign in progress.

THE IGNORANCE OF THE EDUCATED

Thomas A. Edison says he finds that men who have gone through college are amazingly ignorant. "They don't seem to know anything." He bases his opinion on his experience with young people fresh from college who seek positions in his factories. He finds that many of them fail to answer the questions in the examinations which he has prepared as a test of fitness. college graduates ignorant of many things he knows; but it may very well be that Mr. Edison is ignorant of many things the college people know, and it may also be that many of the things known to the young people from college are better worth knowing than many of the things known to Mr. Edison. There is room for the suspicion that Mr. Edison knows the answer to some of his own questions simply because he has prepared the questions.

But, no doubt, there are many useful and necessary things which college graduates do not know. It is impossible to learn everything at college, and it is not desirable that everything should be learned at college. There ought to be room for development after leaving college. The real student is always learning. He does not quit school; rather he goes from one school to another. Mr. Edison, himself, we understand, acquired most of his knowledge in the great school of practical experience.

OLDEST AT CONFERENCE

The oldest clergyman at the Methodist Conference, held last week in Calgary, was Rev. E. E. Cragg, and a resolution of congratulation was passed to him at the concluding session of the conference. The attaining of his ninety-second birthday called for the resolution. The aged churchman pronounced the benediction closing the conference which in many ways has been a notable one.

The recent provincial elections in the Province of Saskatchewan resulted in the return of the Martin Government by a majority that allows but a very small representation of the opposition parties. It is the will of the people unmistakably expressed, and it must be a good government that does so well in an election these days.

A general redistribution and re-organization of the whole postal service has taken place. One of the results of this is that the Lethbridge postal division, which was made a separate one last November, becomes now incorporated with Calgary, which made the headquarters for a new postal district. In place of what were known as "postal divisions," postal districts are now formed.

Now that the fly season is at hand, the following plan of ridding the kitchen and dining room of the pests is said to be a good one: Take a small stove shovel, heat it red hot, and pour on it a few drops of carbolic acid, having previously closed the doors and windows. In a few minutes open the room and the flies will be found to have entirely disappeared. Only a faint odor of the fumes of carbolic acid will remain.

The Canadian Pacific railway has officially announced that they will build a new station at Cardston, the building to cost between $15,000 and $20,000.

The Council of the Municipality of Eureka has voted $350 to the Red Cross, this sum being about one dollar per capita for the resident ratepayers of the municipality.

BOB LOWERY IS DEAD

Bob Lowery, one of the best known newspaper men on the Pacific slope, died in Grand Forks Hospital on Friday, after an illness extending over several years. Deceased was well-known to the older generation of Petrolia, having founded the Petrolia Topic. After a brief ownership he left for British Columbia where for nearly thirty years he was actively engaged in newspaper work and, we believe, established a record in the number of newspapers he launched. Most of them died in infancy, his best publication being a monthly known as "Lowery's Claim." About ten years ago deceased contracted stomach trouble. He went to California in search of health but the strenuous western life had left its mark and he returned to his beloved British Columbia to await the end. His nature was kindly and he detested cant and hypocrisy in any form.
